In this hand of political poker, you bluffed, I went all in, and you, afraid of an extended debate with me on the issues, decided to fold.

Gutless coward.

Save your breath Tim, that shit doesn't work with me. You want 3 hours of air-time, go get your own show. My offer stands: 1 hour at 7pm. And if you don't show, it's you who will be hiding under a rock, while I'm on the air.

Probably a good decision on your part, though. If you had just ignored me three years ago when the "horse's ass" story broke, the media would have quickly lost interest. Instead, by engaging me directly the way you did, you built me up. Um... thanks.

Oh... and if you think a large audience and the news media would listen in just to hear the two of us debate, you've got a more inflated ego than I thought.

Ah well, it's up to you. Let me know if you change your mind.

It's clear you are afraid ... deathly afraid of an extended debate with me with a large audience, including the news media, who will listen and report the results. Instead, you've chosen to crawl underneath a rock to hide from me after I accepted your pathetic challenge. Gutless coward.

3 hours with callers; my offer still stands. If you muster some courage, let me know.

No Tim, I'm afraid I'd bore my audience and lose my new job. Truth is you're not all that interesting. That's why I have a show and you don't.

Whatever. If you want to pass up a chance to plug your car tabs initiative that's up to you. If you change your mind, let me know.

Why? Are you afraid that you can't handle an extended debate on the issues? Afraid that you'll look foolish? Yeah, that's it, isn't it?

Let me know if you change your mind, coward.

Funny, Tim. I doubt the audience can take three hours of me, let alone three hours of the two of us.

I can promise you a full hour if you like, from 7 to 8. You know I can't do anymore than that. That would be the best hour for you too, as we'll still have Frank Shiers audience listening.

Let me know.

Yes, but only if we go the full 3 hours. That way, there will time for lots of callers to call-in.

Let me know if that works for you.

Subject: 710-KIRO, Sunday at 7PM?

Tim,

In case you haven't heard, 710-KIRO has just hired me as the new host on Sunday nights from 7 to 10 PM, and considering how closely intertwined our careers have been these past few years -- yours in decline, mine in ascendance -- I thought it would be only fitting if you would honor me as my first guest, this Sunday at 7 PM.

Now I know you might have some reservations about appearing on the air with a host who made his name by calling you names, but this is radio, and you are, after all, a media whore. Just this past Monday you told the angry throng of reporters you duplicitously drew to the Secretary of State's office that "there's no such thing as bad press." So why not join me on my inaugural show and see how far we can push that maxim?

Again, please remember that this is radio Tim, radio -- tens of thousands of people hearing you talk -- so if there really is no such thing as bad press, what do you have to lose? And besides, we're going to talk about you anyway, so why not be there to defend yourself?

Please let me know if you can join me Sunday night. I look forward to continuing our close working relationship.

Sincerely,

David Goldstein
710-KIRO
